Script

| TIME | VISUAL | SPOKEN LINE (VOICEOVER / TO CAMERA) |
|---|---|---|
| 0-3s HOOK | Creator holds up a plain old bottle, shakes head, tosses it aside. | "Okay, I forgot to drink water for the whole week until I found this." |
| 3-8s PROBLEM | Quick cuts: phone full of notifications, empty glass on desk, tired face. | "I'm always busy, and honestly I never remember to drink. Sound familiar?" |
| 8-15s PRODUCT | Close-up of AquaLite. Bottle glows softly and shows the daily goal on the cap. | "This is the AquaLite. It glows and reminds you every hour, and it tracks how much you've had today." |
| 15-22s PROOF | Creator pours cold water, shows ice staying frozen, taps the cap to show the counter. | "Cold for 24 hours, no leaks in my bag, and I'm finally hitting 2.5 litres a day without trying." |
| 22-27s RESULT | Creator smiling, walking outside, sipping. Energy and good mood. | "Less headache, more energy. Small thing, big difference. I'm not even kidding." |
| 27-30s CTA | Product on table, on-screen text: 'Link in bio. 20% OFF'. | "Link in bio. Use code SIP20 for 20% off. Go get it!" |

Filming Tips

- Shoot in natural light facing a window. Use the phone's back camera, hold steady or use a small tripod.
- Don't sound scripted. Say it in your own words, keep the key points (hook, product, proof, CTA).
- Keep cuts fast: change shot every 2 to 3 seconds so viewers don't scroll away.
- Add captions on screen. Most people watch without sound.
- Show the product in the first 3 seconds and again at the end.
